Medallia is a Palo Alto-based software company that helps the world’s leading brands earn the love of their customers. What does this mean? It means that we give ears, eyes, and heart to the companies we work with — so they can listen to customers and empathize with their needs. Our cloud-based software provides the nervous system to do just that, by capturing and analyzing customer feedback across multiple channels.

We’re proud of our work, but never arrogant. We have a culture founded on smarts, kindness, continual learning, irreverence, and a lot of avocados (actually). We support the passions and pursuits of our employees — in and out of the office. And with offices in the San Francisco Bay Area, London, Australia, and Buenos Aires (to name a few), there’s a lot to do!
