Studies in the Ancestry of Edward Griswold and Laura Hubbard of the Seventh Generation in America.

"Peace to the past, joy to the present, welcome to the future."
Arms of Griswold.
"Boast not the titles of your ancestors;
Brave youths, they're their possessions, none of yours;
When your own virtues equalled have their names,
I will be but fair to lean upon their fame;"

"Then dost thou come of gentle blood;
Disgrace not thy good ancestry.
If lowly born, so bear thyself
That gentle blood may come of thee."

Explanations and Abbreviations.

The surname is a name written before a parenthesis is understood with each given name within the parenthesis. An index to a given name denotes the generation, counting an immigrant to be of the first generation in America, a child of an immigrant to be of the second, a grandchild to be of the third &c. A minus sign following an index denotes a generation in the mother country, an ancestor of an emigrant, thus: The index 1- indicates the generation of a parent of an emigrant; 2-, that of a grandparent &c.

Each name written in line with others denotes a generation succeeding that of the individual named next at the right, thus: Edward Griswold (Daniel W. White, Daniel, Daniel, George, Edward, George, Trancee &c). Daniel W. is Daniel W. Griswold of the sixth generation in America, son of White Griswold of the fifth &c, and father of Edward Griswold of the seventh.
generation in America. George Francis represent the father and the grandfather, respectively, of Edward the emigrant.

Genealogy of Edward Griswold of Manchester, Conn.,
b. 1793, d. 1864.

The Griswold Family in America is descended from an heraldic family of Griswolds in Warwickshire, Eng. whose arms are described as follows: "Arg. a fess gu. betw. two greyhounds current sa."

(Salisbury Genealogies) *That is, the field of the shield is argent, or white; the fesse is gules, or red; the greyhounds are sable, or black. The Griswold colors, therefore, are white, red, and black.
The name signifies grey forest; gris, for grey and wold, for forest.

Several of the ancestors were members of Parliament, and one, Philip Griswold, b. 1391, d. 1460, was honorably distinguished in arms in the reigns of Henry V. and Henry VI.

The family estates, Malvern Hall, Langdon Hall, and yearly are no longer in possession. of Griswolds, the male descendants in England having run out before or about the middle of the Nineteenth Century. For a time later the name was kept up at Malvern Hall by Mary Griswold, a daughter in possession of the place, whose husband, David Lewis, took her name upon marriage.

According to Salisbury and others who have examined early Windsor records and records in England, the family is traced back in unbroken line to Francis Griswold, grandfather of the emigrants, Edward and Matthew. It has been said that Francis lived for a time in Lyme Begis, Dorsetshire, Eng. and that he married there. No records have been in that place to verify the statement. If his home were ever there, it is evident it was but for a brief period, and that his more permanent residence was at Kenilworth, or Solihull near Kenilworth, in Warwickshire, Eng.

George Griswold, son of Francis, and father of Edward, Matthew, and Thomas, was born in Solihull Apr. 23, 1648. In his epitaph he is described as Armiger of Kenilworth, Warwickshire, England.

Edward, the oldest son of George, and b. 1607, left Kenilworth at the age of 81 yrs. for America. He and his brother Matthew in company with Rev. Ephraim Hewitt sett. at Windsor, Ct. in 1639. Thomas remained on the family estate at Kenilworth, Eng. After remaining a time at Windsor, Matthew rem. to Lyme Ct where he settled permanently.

Ephraim Hewitt succeeded Rev. John Warham in the religious ministry at Windsor, Ct. John Warham was from Exeter, Eng. where he had been a leader among the Puritans in the reign of Charles I. Under his guidance, a company of Puritans assembled from the counties Warwick, Somerset, and Devon, sailed for America to escape the persecutions of Archbishop Laud and reached Mass. May 20, 1630.

Most authorities give no evidence of any relationship between Michael Griswold who sett. at Wethersfield and the brothers named above.
Rev. W. Chapman, however, a compiler of an extensive Griswold genealogy as yet unpublished and which with other genealogical papers he left to his son Henry A. Chapman of Rocky Hill, Conn, says: "I have documentary evidence that Michael Griswold was a brother of Edward and Matthew, also of Francis who sett. in Cambridge, Mass. and who d. without issue."

In the Porter, Bucker, Buell and some other genealogies, also in a number of biographical sketches of Griswolds, the statement is made that Matthew Griswold sen. of Hemilworth, Warwickshire, Eng. was the father of Edward, Matthew and Thomas. A plausible solution to these seemingly conflicting statements as to the name of the father of these brothers might be that a generation represented by a Matthew Griswold sen. intervened between George b. in 1548 and Edward b. in 1607, since George was 59 yrs. old at the birth of the oldest brother and of sufficient age to be grandfather. Whether this be a correct solution or not, all authorities thus far consulted agree in main points so far as they go as to the emigrants Edward and Matthew in America and as to their descendants.

In the Early Probate Records of Hartford District of Conn., compiled by Charles William Manwaring, is an affidavit made by Edward Gerswold, the emigrant, in the presence of John Allyne in which he states that he came to New England in 1639.

Miss Elizabeth Todd Nash in her "Fifty Puritan Ancestors" gives the following: George Gerswold of Kenilworth, Eng., had five sons born there: Thomas remained at Kenilworth. Michael, b. 1597, sett at Wethersfield, Ct. Edward, b. 1607, sett at Windsor, Ct. 1639 and at Killingworth Ct. in 1664. Francis sett at Cambridge, Mass. Matthew, b. 1620, sett at Windsor, Ct. 1639 and later at Lyme Ct.

"From the Hall Ancestry, by Ishmael B. Hall is the following: "The original Gerswolds were blue-eyed, very tall, large bodied, muscular, athletic, and powerful."
I. Edward Griswold, the emigrant, b. in 1607 in Kenilworth, Warwickshire, England, sett. in Windsor, Ct. abt. 1639. He rem. to Kenilworth, Ct. where he d. in 1691. The name Kenilworth was given in honor of his birthplace. The name has since been changed to Clinton. In the Clinton Cong. Burying Ground still stands the gravestone of his wife, Margaret——, who d. Aug. 23, 1670. The stone is lettered “M. G.” It is said to be the oldest monument in the yard. He m. a second wife, the widow of James Remis, in 1672.

There is in the Windsor records a statement made under oath by this George Griswold to the effect that he remembered living with his father in Kenilworth, Eng. “in his youthfull yeares.” The statement gives evidence to the date 1639 A.D. given by recent investigators, as the time Edward came to Windsor, CT instead of 1633 given by some of the earlier authorities.

The following from the agreement of the heirs of George Griswold who d. Sept. 1704, is found in the "Early Probate Records": [Date of Court Record Nov. 10, 1704]

"George Griswold's estate left to Daniel, his oldest son, one parcel of marsh land in Dimsburg under the mountain, one parcel lying in the bounds of New London, 1/2 of the upland which was John Linke's, which was our father's, and our father's part of the gristmill. We also agree that said Daniel shall have a piece of woodland in Quarry Field.

The above was signed Oct. 2, 1704 by Mary, Daniel, Thomas, George, John, Benjamin, Edward, Abigail, Joseph Cooley, Thomas Moore." (Abigail was a grandchild, Mary was the widow)

The following is from the Salisbury Genealogies:

"Testimony of Capt. George Griswold, age 72 & testimony of John Griswold, age 67, sons of George, the deponents both of Windsor in the county of Hartford of Colony of Conn. in New England, as follows:

Our grandfather's name was Edward Griswold, and it was formerly and has ever since been accepted and reputed that our said grandfather's father's name was George Griswold, and the said great grandfather had three sons, the eldest named Edward, the second named Matthew, and the third or youngest son named Thomas; and the said Edward the eldest son and the said Matthew the second son came into New England from Hillingsworth, (a corruption of Hemsworth) in Warwickshire in England, and in all our discourses amongst the families of Griswolds in New England, together with other elderly observing gentlemen they are and have ever been so accepted and reputed to be without contradiction or gainsaying, according to our remembrance.

"Windsor in Hartford County, Conn. N.S. there personally appeared on the 19th day of Jan. Anno Dom. 1737-8 Capt. George Griswold and John Griswold the above named deponents and made solemn oath in due form of law to the truth of the above written testimony, before me.

II. White Griswold (Daniel 4 Daniel 3 George 2 Edward 1) b. in Windsor, Ct. Oct. 22, 1727, m. Feb. 14, 1751, Elizabeth Cheney (Benjamin 4 Peter 3 Peter 2 John 1). She was a sister of Timothy Cheney, the grandfather of the Cheney Brothers, manufacturers of silk goods at South Manchester, Conn. She was b. in East Hartford, Ct. Dec. 9, 1725, d. at Oxford Parish, now Manchester, Aug. 1, 1793. Her grave is in the Manchester Center Burying Ground, near the N. E. corner of the old part.
An inscription near the base of her stone, tells of the death of her husband at Philadelphia. On Memorial Day of each year, her grave is adorned with flowers, and a U.S. flag placed there by members of the D.A.R. Society, in honor of White Griswold as a soldier in the American Revolution.
His grave "nobody knoweth." [Cheney Family p. 34]

White Griswold and his son Asa enlisted in Capt. Austin's Co., as one-year-men, for the invasion of Canada. They enlisted Feb. 10, 1776 at Harwinton, Ct., to which place the family had removed from Bolton Ct. sometime before the war. White reenlisted May 26, 1777, this time for three years, in Theophilus Munson's Co. of the Eighth Regt. Conn Line. He was in the Battle of Germantown and was taken prisoner of war Oct. 4, 1777. He died aboard of a British prison ship at Philadelphia Dec. 2, 1777. Few of the prisoners there survived the suffering occasioned by bad air, want of pure water, bad food, filth, and an overcrowded ship. It evidently equalled or surpassed the infamous Black Hole of Calcutta. [For enlistments see lists of Soldiers of the Revolution at the Historical Rooms Hartford Ct.] There is extant a letter written by White Griswold while he was a soldier in the Revolution. The original letter is so old and the creases made in folding so worn in places as to make an occasional word or phrase unintelligible. These, in the following copy are indicated by dots:
Fort George, 10th August, 1776.

Sir, Although at a great distance from you, yet I have an opportunity which I gladly embrace to let you know something of my circumstances since I came from home, but where and how to begin I am at a loss, for the time is short in which I have to write, therefore . . . . . . must be short. I have been in Canada as far as the 8 Rivers, 90 miles above Quebeek, which is 278 miles from this place, and on the march we underwent an unknown deal both by fatigue and want of provisions, also by the small pox, something of the . . . . . . distemper, so that we have undergone almost everything but death. But thanks be to God, I and my son are in comfortable circumstances at present for which I desire I may ever be sensible of God's goodness to us and walk answerable to mercies received, for which I desire your prayer that I may so do and be returned to my family and friends in due time with a sense of his goodness to me and that I may ever set God as present before my eyes that I sin not against him.

"I and Asa are both at work at Ft. George at the joiner's business in which I hope we shall continue but it is uncertain how it will be for we know not but we shall be called from this place in a short time and to what business is uncertain. As to news I have not much to write for we don't know much about the affairs of the army. At Ft. George it is a very sickly and ........ time. There are some days nearly 10 men buried, and I believe not a day ........ but sundry men are buried. To view the hospital and see the dead carried to the grave (if rightly so considered) is I believe the most melancholy place and time that ever was in America. For this it becomes the inhabitants of the land to humble themselves before God who is able to avert the judgments which we feel and turn from sin to God by true and unfeigned repentance and Implore His forgiving love and that He would return in mercy to us and grant the pardon of all sin which is the cause of all evils which we feel.

"Our business for some days past has been making coffins. The dead have chiefly been buried without till Thursday the 5th of August we made 7, Friday 5, Saturday 5. All but one were used as soon as they were made and I don't see but it is as likely to continue as in time past. I counted the graves Saturday night the 10th of August and there were 130 graves and sundry have two bodies in them and it is not more than 30 days since the first was buried there.

"I can at present give no more intelligence but as I said before I believe there is not a more melancholy place in America than this, if rightly so considered. Although death is so frequent it is minded among the greater part of the soldiers no more than among a herd of cattle, which makes it most doleful to behold.

"I shall conclude with wishing you and all friends health and peace both in time and eternity. This from your sincere friend and humble servant.

White Frieswold."
"P. S. Sir, I don't by not mentioning in particular and by name dist. son and daughter but I desire you would give my most kind regards to them and let them know by the above lines the situation we are in for as I told you before we are well and live well at present. In writing to you 'tis the same as though I write to each of them in particular. So far-ye-well."

At the settlement of the estate of his father-in-law, Benjamin Cheney, White Griswold received £ 67. This considering the number of heirs was a large sum for those days. [Probate Court Records]

There, too, next beside them are the graves of Edward, their oldest child, Laura Hubbard w. of Edward, and Ralph, son of Edward and Laura. [Our Family p. 45]

Daniel W. Griswold was engaged for a considerable time in the manufacture of gun-powder. He was also a skillful clock maker. Some of his make of clocks are still in existence. They recorded the hour, minute, second, day, month, and changes of the moon. They were of the type of grandfather’s Clock that too high for the shelf stood ninety years on the floor.” He owned many acres of land in what is now the town of Manchester, Ct., which before it was set off as a town by itself in 1823. was the Oxford Parish of East Hartford, Ct., where he successfully conducted farming. He was prominent in affairs of church, town, and state.

In 1820 he represented East Hartford in the legislature.

[Town & H. records and Goodwin's Hist. of C. H.]. He was a man of great and excellent character, of the utmost integrity, fine looking, genial, capable, and liberal in his views beyond the times in which he lived.

[Reputation given him by old residents who remembered him.]

Ancestry of Esther Hall, w. of Joseph Hall, Feb. 4th

There is evidence that William Hills and his brother Thomas, both of Essex Co. Eng. came to America as indentured servants. Many ambitious young men of their times, and frequently even those of "high degree," took such opportunity to defray the expense of passage and of their living till something better offered. At any rate they came in the same ship, the Lion, and at the same time June 24, 1632, with the betrothed of the apostle, John Eliot, in whose employ they spent the first months after their arrival. Thomas died in Roxbury, Mass. at an early date. William was made freeman there in 1634. He m. Phillis Lyman, dau. of Richard Lyman and Sarah Osborne, dau. of Roger Osborne of Halespaed, Co. Kent, Eng. [Lyman and Osborne Families 1932]

Before 1640 William Hills had rem. to Hartford, Ct. In that year he owned a house and lot near what is now (1905) the corner of Sheldon and Front Sts. He early rem. to Hocconium where he bought much land.
In 1658 he was captain of the first train band east of the river. He was nominated freeman in 1661 and listed as such in 1669. He was shot and wounded by the Indians in 1675. He d. in Hadley, Mass. July 1683.

His interest in theological matters and his respect for the religious tenets and forms of the times seem not to have been so greatly enhanced by his life in a clergyman's family as may have been expected; Eliot reported him as eminently trustworthy and very industrious, and his services as greatly missed after his term of indenture had expired, but regretted exceedingly his want ofeneration in regard to spiritual affairs. Writing of William Hills, Eliot says: "... he removed to Hartford on Connecticut where he lived several years without giving such satisfaction to the consciences of the saints." According to his Hartford record, he did not associate himself with the Church for some years after establishing himself there, and when he had done so he took no active part in the affairs of church. In all secular matters he continued his inborn integrity to the day of his death. (See note on p. 50)

Ancestry of Sarah White
w. of Daniel Griswold Jr. (Aug. 23)

Elder John White, the emigrant, sailed in the ship Lyon, Capt. Pierce, from London abt. June 12, 1632, and reached Boston, Mass., Sept. 16. He had a grant of land in and near Cambridge, Mass. Gore Hall, a library of Harvard, “graces now what was once his cow yard.” He resided in Hartford, Ct., with Thomas Hooker, later he settled at Hatfield, Mass. He d. in 1653 at Hadley, Mass. at abt. 83. His wife’s name was Mary.

Lieut. Daniel White (John) b. 1639 in Hartford, Ct, d. July 27, 1713. He m. Sarah Crow Nov. 1, 1661. They resided in Hatfield, Mass., abt. 1662. Sarah, b. in Hartford, Meb. 1, 1647, was but 14 yrs. 8 mos. old at the time of her marriage. She d. June 27, 1719. John Crow, the father of Sarah, b. 1606, d. in Hartford, Ct, Jan. 18, 1676. He bought land on the east side of the river and was the “largest landholder” in Hartford. Crow Hill is in River Swamp. He m. Elizabeth, the only child of Elder William Goodwin of Hartford.
Goodwin. — The name is from “Godwin”, meaning good friend or God’s friend, an old name in England and Germany.

Elder William Goodwin was an early settler of Hartford, Ct., as was also his brother Ogias. He sailed from London Eng. June 22, 1632, and arrived in Boston Sept. 16. He sett. first at Cambridge Mass., near the present College Campus, rem. to Hartford, Ct. in 1635, d. in Farmington, Ct. Mar. 11, 1673, Susannah, his wife, d. May 17, 1676.

He and his brother Ogias, who was sometimes called Hosea, were members of the “Braintree Co. or Hooker Co.,” a company organized in Braintree, Eng. for emigration to America. They were in sympathy with the religious views of Thomas Hooker. The followers of Stone, Hooker’s successor in the First Church of Hartford, held opinions in some way at variance with these. From these differences arose a division in the church and many of the so called “withdrawers” rem. to Mass. and settled the town of Hatfield. Among these was Elder William Goodwin. What was the nature of these differences which followed soon upon the death of Hooker, investigation of the present day finds it difficult to determine. It is generally thought to be between Congregationalism of which Hooker had been the opponent, and Presbyterianism which Stone may have attempted to introduce.

The Bissells fled from the persecution of the Quakers to the New World to escape the persecutions following the mas.

The family is buried in Connecticut. It has been a source of a religious rather than a religiously decribed in Bissell's Complete History. Bissell and his descendants are known.

John Bissell, the only one known to have come to this country, was a citizen of the United States before 1690 at which time he had a ferry near the Connecticut River, connecting Wethersfield and East Wethersfield. In 1690 he received from the Connecticut Colony a grant of the monopoly of a ferry across the Connecticut Roo.

Sarah Bissell w. of Capt. Daniel White. (see p. 57)

The Bissell Family is of Huguenot origin. The Bissells fled to England to escape the persecutions following the massacre of St. Bartholomew's Day, 1572. The family is but little known in England. It has but one coat of arms, which is of a religious, rather than of a warlike character, described in Burke's Complete Armory: “Bissell, gu., on a bend az: three escallops, sa. Crest, a demi-eagle with wings displayed, sa; charged on the neck with an escallop shell, or. Motto: "In reteo Deere" - In rectitude, Honor."

John Bissell, the only one known to have come to this country, sett at Windsor, Ct, before 1640 at which time he had a ferry there across the Connecticut River, connecting Windsor and East Windsor. In 16479 he received from the Connecticut Colony a grant of the monopoly of a ferry across the Connecticut River at Windsor. The Bissells owned much land on the east side of the River. John d. Sept. 15, 1677. His w. was Elizabeth Thompson. She d. Mar. 29, 1683.

Genealogy of Laura Hubbard,

w. of Edward Griffin of Manchester, Conn.,

b. 1799, d. 1879.

Origin of the name Hubbard:—Among the most adventurous and successful of the old Norse pirate sea-kings that infested the coasts of Britain and Northern Europe in the Ninth Century, was Ragnar Lodbrog with his two sons, Hingua and Hubba. Along the shores of the German Ocean, Ragnar was generally known by the sobriquet of "The Old Boar." He was a terror to the lands bordering the Baltic, the Arkney, the Hebrides, Ireland, Scotland, and Northumbria.
He once visited France also, devestating the banks of the Seine and taking possession of Paris. The Northumbrians at last succeeded in capturing him and put him to death. It has been said that this was done by incarcerating him in a den of ven-omsous snakes, and that in his last moments he consold himself with the hope that his cube would avenge his fate. In the fall of 866 A.D., Hingua and Hubba sailed to East Anglia to avenge the foul death of their sire. In the terrible conflict that ensued they came off victorious. "From Hubba" are derived a great number of names, among which are Hubbard, Hubbard, Hebard, Hobard, and Hobart.

Hubbard Arms.—The Herald college describes the coat of arms granted to Thomas Hubbard of Calais by King Henry VII. thus: "Arms: Azure—a chevron between three swans' heads erased (argent), each gorged with a crown (or and gules)."

Burke's Heraldry describes the arms of Sir John Hillibran Hubbard thus: "Arms (argent), a chevron between three eagles' heads erased (argent), ducally gorged (gules)."

(Sir John Hillibran Hubbard, Baron, M.P., and Director General of the Bank of England.)

Burke's Heraldry describes the arms of the Hubbards of Durham: "Arms (argent) in chief a crescent (argent), and in base an estoile of eight points (or) between two flanches (ermine). Crest: A wolf passant (or)." The arms granted May 19, 1576, to Edward Hubbard of Brougham, Eng. are described by the Herald..."
College thus: "The arms granted are: Quarterly - (argent and sable); on a bend (gules) three lions (or) pas-sant." No crest is mentioned although the Hubbards have been using crests for over two hundred years.

VI. Nathaniel Hubbard (David, David, John, John, George) was the third son of David Hubbard and Abigail Oloott. He was b. Apr. 27, 1767, d. Aug. 11, 1844 in Bolton CT.

He owned much land in Bolton, Glastonbury, and Manchester. He lived in Bolton many years where he was deacon in the Bolton Center Congregational Church. He was made member of this church Aug. 27, 1784 by letter from the Eastbury Cong. Church in Glastonbury, CT. He was a very devout man and lived in accordance with his extremely strict religious principles. His only dread of old age seemed to be from a fear that he might become a helpless burden to someone. He prayed daily; and wherever, whenever, and upon whatever occasion he prayed, his closing petition was always the same: "May I not outlive my usefulness." His vigor and activity continued to the day of his death. Leaving his work in the field about the middle of one afternoon, he went to the house feeling ill and died that night.

After his death there was found among his private papers a covenant which he had executed, signed and sealed on the 6th of April 1781 when he was about twenty-three years old. It may be of interest not only on ac-account of its giving an idea of his personal religious views, but, very likely also, of the general religious thought of those times. It evidently became a guide through life and may account, in part at least, for his integrity and invariable uprightness of character.

The following is a copy of said covenant:

"Eternal and ever blessed God: I desire to present myself before Thee with the deepest humiliation and abasement of soul, sensible how unworthy such a sinful worm is to appear before the Holy Majesty of Heaven, the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords, and especially on such an occasion as this, even to enter into a covenant transaction with Thee. But the scheme and the plan is Thine own. Thine infinite condescension hath offered it by Thy Son, and Thy grace hath inclined my heart to accept it.

"I come therefore, acknowledging myself to have been a great offender, smiting on my breast and saying with the humble publican: "God be merciful to me a sinner. I come invited by Thee in the name of Thy Son, wholly trusting in His perfect right-sousness, entreaty that for His sake Thou wilt be merciful to my unrighteousness and wilt no more remember my sins. 'Receive, I beseech Thee, Thy re-volted creature, who is convinced of Thy right to him, and who desires nothing else so much as that he may be Thine. This day do I with the utmost solemnity surrender myself to Thee. I renounce all former lords that have had dominion over me, and I consecrate to Thee all that I am, and all that I have; the faculties of my mind, the members of my body, my worldly possessions, my time, and my influence over others, to be used entirely for Thy glory and resolutely employed in obedience to Thy command so long as Thou continuest me in life, with an ardent desire and an humble resolution to continue Thine through all the endless ages of eternity, ever holding myself in an attentive posture to observe the first intimation of Thy will, and ready to spring forward with zeal and joy to the immediate execution of it. To Thy direction also I resign myself and all I am and all I have to be disposed by Thee in such a manner as Thou shalt in Thine infinite wisdom judge most subservient to the purposes of Thy
To Thee I leave all the management of all events and say without reserve: "Not my will but Thine be done," rejoicing with a loyal heart in Thine unlimited government as what ought to be the delight of the whole rational creation.

"Use me, O, Lord, I beseech Thee, as an instrument of Thy service. Number me among Thy particular people, let me be washed in the blood of Thy dear Son, let me be clothed in His righteousness, let me be sanctified by His Spirit, transform me more and more into His image, impart to me through Him all needful influences of Thy purifying, cheering, and comforting Spirit; and let my life be spent under these influences, and in the light of Thy gracious countenance as my Father and my God. And when the solemn hour of Death comes may I remember this Thy Covenant well ordered in all things and sure as all my salvation and all my desire tho' every other hope and enjoyment is perishing. And do Thou, O God, remember it too. Look down with pity, O my Heavenly Father, on Thy languishing, dying child. Embrace me in Thine everlasting arms, put strength and confidence into my departing spirit and receive it at the abodes of them that sleep in Jesus, peacefully and joyfully to await the accomplishment of Thy great promise to all Thy people, even that of a glorious resurrection and of eternal happiness in Thy Heavenly Presence.

"And if any surviving friend should, when I am in the dust, meet with this memorial of my solemn transaction with Thee, may he make the engagement his own; and do Thou graciously admit him to partake in all the blessing of Thy Covenant thro' Jesus the great mediator of it, to Whom with Thee, O Father, and Thy Holy Spirit be everlasting praises ascribed by all the millions who are thus saved by Thee, and by all those other celestial spirits in whose work and blessedness Thou shalt call them to share. Amen.

"Signed and sealed this the 6th day of April in the year of our Lord 1781

Nathaniel Hubbard."

Note.—The following is from the Hall Ancestry by Chas. S. Hall, pp. 130 & 173. Samuel Chaikin (opposite p.) is supposed to have been a Huguenot. His w., likely was a French maiden. Katherine Chaikin (pp 101, 102) vivacity and French were quite charming, yet somewhat puzzling and peculiar to the quiet, staid Curitans of Springfield, Mass. The Deming Family is of Huguenot origin.100.
Note.—The following is from the Boardman Ancestry by Wm. F. Boardman, pp. 187, 298. The Demings (p. 100) are of Huguenot origin. The family fled to England after the massacre of St. Bartholomew's and changed their name De Ming to Deming. Elizabeth Deming (John) only one born in America. John probably owned Ridgwell Hall, at which place he was living in 1634 before emigrating to America, and which was a gift from his father at the time of his marriage. It is said that he sold this property and invested the proceeds of the sale in a vessel in which he came to Wethersfield, Conn., where he was the first ship owner. He traded along the river with the Indians. It was probably his vessel which carried Capt. Mason’s little army of seventy-seven men to Narragansett Bay to attack the Pequots. He was a leading man in the early history of Wethersfield, Conn., and held a number of important civic offices in the colony.

The Ancient Burying Ground of Hartford, Conn.

This ground is in the rear of the Old Center Church, (Hooker's Church) with an entrance on Gold Street, and is open to the public daily from 8 A.M. to 6 P.M.

In 1837, a monument was erected here by the Ancient Burying Ground Association of Hartford, to the memory of those early settlers who came to Hartford not later than 1640.

Among the names inscribed thereon are: John White, William Goodwin, John Brow, William Hill (Hills), and Edward Elmer, — ancestors of Edward Griswold; also: Thomas Horner, Matthew Marvin, Thomas Alcott (Alcott), Ogius Goodwin, and Thomas Blies, — ancestors of Laura Hubbard; and Richard Lyman, an ancestor of both Edward Griswold and Laura Hubbard.

Richard Case and John Curmett (Curmett), ancestors of Edward Griswold; William Atkin and Thomas Woodford, ancestors of Laura Hubbard, came to Hartford later than 1640.

The old gravestone for William Atkin is still standing in this yard beside a more modern one erected for him by some of his Atkin descendants of the present generation.
